Service Men Watch New Pay Boosts

Draft Statute Rules
No Fathers Shall Be Taken, Others May Ask Discharge

Pay Is Big Thing

Those in Service Show Particular Interest in Increases

Washington, June 26 (AP)—With more than $50,000,000 at stake, the nation's men in uniform riveted their attention on the White House today to learn when the draft extension compromise and its companion pay increase measure become law.

The twin bills cleared final congressional hurdles yesterday in doublequick time after months of argument.

Public interest centered on the nine-month extension of the wartime draft beyond June 30 with non-fathers between 19 and 45 probably most concerned as possible draftees. Neither service, however, has indicated any desire to draft anyone over 26. Other prime provisions of the measure include:

An 18-month limit on compulsory service.

No further inductions of fathers.

A clause that fathers now in service may apply for release after August 1.

But the men of the army, navy, marines and other armed services—from gold braided officers down to privates and apprentice seamen—were more interested in the time of the pay boost signing.

The increases—ranging from $25 a month for the privates up to $166.67 for the upper bracket generals and admirals—will become effective on the first day of the month following the presidential signature.

Because the present stopgap draft act dies at the end of this month, Mr. Truman was expected to sign the compromise extension before July 1.

Not Under Pressure

But he was not under the same pressure to sign the broad pay increase plan. Hence if he delays this until after July 1, all men on duty with the armed service would have to wait until August 1 before collecting the extra money.

In all, congressional committees estimated the pay increases will total something over $632,000,000 for the next year. One month would amount to more than $50,000,000 on an average, so whether the men in uniform collect it in July depends on Mr. Truman's pen.

Although the House required several hours and some argument before it approved the two compromises, the Senate agreed to both in less than 10 minutes without record votes.

Before the vote, it learned the War Department plans no inductions during July and August so that a pool of some 52,000 men between 19 and 30 will be available for the draft at the end of that period.

About 13,000 are expected to be called in September, and an average of 7,000 each month thereafter unless voluntary enlistments fall all.

While the compromise legislation bars induction of anyone under 19, youths still have to register for the draft when they become 18. This registration clause in the present Selective Service law was not altered.

Service of any men inducted under the extended will be limited to 18 months, excluding time spent in schools, while in uniform, and all fathers now inducted may be released upon request, starting August 1.

All men who have served 18 consecutive months or longer, with school time not counted, also may apply for release starting October 1.

Cab Drivers Take Vacation

Washington, June 26 (AP)—A road stoppage by drivers today curtailed taxi service in the nation's capital, which has 9,730 licensed cabs and approximately 7,400 cabs. The demonstration, termed a "vacation" by the drivers, was called last night at a meeting of approximately 700 cabbies who want increased fares and a reduction in the number of cab drivers licensed.

Sergeant Roger Peters, head of a committee representing the idle drivers, said the work stoppage, which began at 10 and 10:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Taylor attempted to take the license number but the number she caught from the fleeing car did not correspond with the license number said to have been on the Buick which was used in the stick-up. In her haste Mrs. Taylor may not have secured the right numbers on the license tag or plates may have been shifted after the Poughkeepsie stick-up.

All roads in this area were covered throughout the night by officers and all bridges were watched but no further trace of the car has been reported. Police say it is unlikely that the bandits attempted to cross to the west shore of the Hudson because of the inability of detection across a bridge or ferry.

Mrs. Taylor's story of seeing a car proceeding south within a half hour of the time of the stick-up indicated that the men may have attempted to reach New York or make a getaway over one of the numerous roads which run east from Dutchess county.

Wall Is Appointed

New York, June 26 (AP)—The Board of Governors of the New York Hospital announced today the appointment of Dr. James H. Wall as medical director of the hospital's psychiatric branch in White Plains. The appointment is effective July 1. Dr. Wall, who has been on the staff of the Westchester Division Hospital since 1928 and as assistant director since 1936, will succeed Dr. Clarence O. Cheney, medical director of the time of the stick-up.

The increase was expected as a result of recently announced boosts in the prices of fluid milk.

At the same time, Dr. Israel Weinstein, New York City Health Commissioner, ordered 400 milk receiving stations supplying the city to keep their deliveries at a level of at least 65 per cent of their total milk receipts.

Weinstein said he acted under a recent amendment to the city sanitary code giving him the power

Brush Company Will Resume Its Operations in City

Joseph F. Hartmann Says Company Will Go to Thomas Street

Formula to Give Enlisted Men Social Break in Effect

It was announced at the office of Joseph F. Saccoman, real estate operator, this morning that one of the old industries which operated in Kingston a few years ago is returning to the city.

Joseph F. Hartmann, president of the Kingston Brush Manufacturing Company, Inc., stated that the old brush factory at 16 Thomas street, formerly known as the Herber brush factory, will start operations the first part of next week in the manufacture of paint brushes.

It also decided it can get along with less saluting, except where a snappy salute counts.

Secretary of War Patterson put the new formula into army life when he gave carefully qualified approval last night to all but two of the 14 recommendations submitted by the Doolittle "grapevine" board which investigated postwar GI complaints of too much caste in the service.

Patterson announced that the War Department is ordering:

Abolition of saluting except on military posts, in overseas occupied areas and on ceremonial occasions.

Elimination of an existing requirement that officers wear distinctive uniforms, live apart from their men in garrison, and confine their social contacts to other officers.

Granting enlisted men the same privilege as officers, effective July 1, in accumulating unused leave time, currently 30 days a year.

Studies looking to a possible upward revision of pay schedules along with allowances for food, quarters and travel.

Measures to train officers better for leadership and to overhaul the present system of promotions.

Kingston High School Gives Diplomas to 397 Students

Army Begins New Order for Conduct

One of Largest Classes in School History Lists 35 Veterans in Ranks

Kingston High School graduated 397 students in the class of 1946 at commencement last night in the municipal auditorium. It is one of the largest classes in the school's history and 35 of its members either are or have been in the armed forces and have met the Board of Education requirements for graduation.

Clarence L. Dunn, principal, presided at the exercises, the 15th commencement at which he has presided for Kingston High School. He presented the class to Bernard Feeney, president of the Board of Education.

Mr. Feeney congratulated the class on having completed a milestone in their careers and advised the students to build their future on the firm foundation of knowledge obtained in school. He reviewed some of the conditions in the world today which all graduates must face, including two basic philosophies: one which recognizes the individual freedom as supreme, the other that the state is supreme and individuals must be subordinated to the state.

He reminded the students that the first philosophy has made America a great country while the second is the system used by the Fascists, Nazis, Japanese and some of the conquered people now.

The bouts on tomorrow night's card will be sponsored by B'nai B'rith.

Ewig, who is a past president of the B'nai B'rith, said the church will get 40 per cent of the net proceeds, in recognition of the role the congregation has played in bringing the champion to Kingston.

Louis will referee a bout on the night's card.

Blanford Predicts Highest Price for June Deliveries

New York, June 26 (AP)—A uniform price of $3.64 per hundred-weight—highest price ever paid for June milk deliveries in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area and equal to the all-time record high—was predicted today by Dr. C. J. Blanford, administrator.

Blanford, taking into account a minimum subsidy of at least 55 cents per hundredweight, forecast a possible total return to dairymen of $4.19.

The increase was expected as a result of recently announced boosts in the prices of fluid milk.

At the same time, Dr. Israel Weinstein, New York City Health Commissioner, ordered 400 milk receiving stations supplying the city to keep their deliveries at a level of at least 65 per cent of their total milk receipts.

The commissioner said operators who expect to receive credit for fluid milk shipments into the counties outside New York city must submit to the Department of Health a statement of the shipper.

The dairyman of the class, received the highest number of awards, five in all, totaling $25 and a book. Maria Nekos, val-

New York, June 26 (AP)—Searchers probed the smoldering wreckage of the huge Staten Island Ferry Terminal today to ascertain if there were other victims in a $2,000,000 blaze which caused three deaths and injuries to many others yesterday.

Commissioners Hope to Merge Two Plans Into One Workable Program

Council to Meet

Security Group Is Due to Meet on Spanish Issue

New York, June 26 (AP)—The United Nations atomic conferees left the veto issue deadlocked between the opposite views of the United States and Russia today and headed for an amicable start on a plan aimed at ultimate world control and development of atomic energy.

When the last members of the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission had been polled yesterday for their views on separate control programs advanced by the United States and Russia, all but those two great powers were agreed that were broad measures of merit in both plans.

The United States has offered no comment in the commission sessions since the initial presentation of her program and Russia made no reference to the American ideas in offering her counter-proposals.

Only Poland gave unqualified endorsement to the Russian plan, but it was generally agreed that the two proposals might be welded into a single strategic program to end the terrible threat of atomic warfare.

Members Optimistic

With the members of the commission expressing optimism over the possibilities of meshing the proposals into one integrated program, the commission chairman, Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt of Australia, set up an atomic working committee to begin at once the task of trying to draft an international control plan.

The committee represents all the 12 nations on the commission and will hold its first meeting at 10:30 a. m. (EDT) Friday.

The Security Council will assemble at 3 p. m. (EDT) today to dispose of the Spanish issue on a resolution prepared by a committee composed of Evatt, Britain's Sir Alexander Cadogan and Polish delegate Oscar Lange.

Appointed Monday

They were appointed Monday, after the defeat of Poland's motion for an abrupt U. N. diplomatic break with the Franco regime, to compose the differences arising from Poland's effort to keep the Spanish issue on the council's agenda for action by September 1 and a proposed British amendment which would retain the issue until the general assembly meets September 3. The British proposal would have the effect of passing the case along to the general assembly without action by the council—a move assailed principally by Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko.

Members of the atomic commission's working committee made clear they intend to sidetrack the veto issue and let it reach a showdown only after all the other differences between the Russian and United States plans have been reconciled. The prime requirement of the American plan laid approach to New York city up until noon.

The Department of Marine and Aviation began limited operations at noon with four boats putting in at a pier on the north side of the island, a quarter-mile away from the gutted terminal.

A fresh crew of firemen came on duty at dawn, working with pneumatic drills to penetrate concrete flooring and get at flames which stubbornly ate through the highly inflammable creosote piling.

All told, 200 fire-fighters were hacking away at the scorching, smoking heap of rubble trying to quell the $2,000,000 blaze, worst in Staten Island history.

A half dozen fire boats, a score of engine companies and five hook and ladder outfits remained on the job.

Many men were struck by smoke poisoning, cuts and burns as the battle wore on, but most of them were treated at the scene.

Inhalator crews had little rest as one fireman after another stumbled out of the wreckage, unable to see through smoke-inflamed eyes and gasping for fresh air.

No new victims had been found in the debris.

New $465,000,000 UNRA Allotment

Is Recommended Today by House Committee

Washington, June 26 (P)—A new $465,000,000 cash allotment for the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration was recommended today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The U.N.R.R.A. item was the most controversial and largest of a group of miscellaneous appropriations in a $726,571,909 deficiency supply bill sent to the House floor for debate starting tomorrow.

It is expected to touch off a bitter wrangle over whether any of the new money should be spent in Russian republics which do not allow American news and radio correspondents free access to news of U.N.R.R.A. operations. Rep. Brown (R-O) already has said he fight against letting any U.N.R.R.A. funds go to nations putting restrictions on U.S. news-

No Injuries Reported As Three Cars Collide

No persons were reported injured, but two automobiles were damaged in a three-car crash on Broadway, near Henry street, on Tuesday afternoon, according to the police report.

DuBois Johnson of Highland was driving on Broadway when he halted for the red traffic light at Henry street. As his car was brought to a halt it was struck in the rear by an automobile driven by Karl F. Ober of Santa Barbara, Calif., while the Ober car was struck in the rear by the auto of George S. Tomcho of Poughkeepsie.

The Tomcho car was damaged so badly it had to be towed away. The California car had the grill and left front headlight as well as the rear of the machine damaged. No damages were reported to the Johnson auto.

Eugene Ward Shoup, 18, was arraigned by District Attorney Louis Bruhn on a charge of possession of a gun in this city in violation of Section 1897, Subdivision 5A, on June 3. Francis Martoccio appeared for defendant and a plea of innocent was entered. Mr. Martoccio moved the case over to County Court and asked that it be prosecuted under the Youthful Offender law because of the age of defendant. That application was granted. Shoup, who has been in jail since June 3, was remanded to the custody of Sheriff Smith.

Herman Bronson of the town of Marlborough was arraigned on a charge of assault, second degree, in two counts. It is alleged that when troopers attempted to move Bronson on May 26 at Marlborough, he assaulted an officer, a piece of innocent was entered and the case was transferred to County Court for disposition and the defendant was remanded.

Joseph Patrick Hemmerich was charged in two counts of grand larceny, first degree, alleged to have been committed on May 28. A plea of innocent was entered and the case was sent to County Court and the prisoner remanded. Court adjourned to chambers.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn announces that only about 40% of the goal has been realized to date. He urges all workers to complete their canvass. Those who have not been called upon are asked to send their contribution to John H. Saxe, treasurer, State of New York National Bank.

Vincent G. Connolly, in a radio address, stated that the charitable work of the Salvation Army in this community is unheralded, unsung and unknown to most people. The $5160 sought of be raised by general subscription is the first appeal in six years. Because of all the good work, help the Salvation Army to continue its humane work for all people in need by contributing generously to its current fund raising campaign. Mr. Connolly said.

Shanghai Offers Piles of Gold for 1940 Automobiles

By RICHARD CUSHING

San Francisco, June 26 (AP)—They stick you a cool $10,000 for a 1940 or 1941 American automobile in Shanghai these days.

And the market is going up. Next week you might be able to sell it for $12,000.

Quick fortunes have been made in automobile deals in China the past several months, especially now that the postwar models are arriving. Under Shanghai's fabulous runaway inflation a new car in the medium-price class may change hands for many thousand U. S. dollars.

A month ago, before leaving Shanghai for the United States, this correspondent watched a happy Chinese government official purchase a new Ford, still in its crate, from an American. He paid $20,000 in cash—packets of U. S. notes.

The American didn't particularly want to sell the car but he couldn't resist the offer. The Chinese wanted a new automobile and was willing to pay almost any price rather than wait his turn on a dealer's list.

Such a deal is certainly unusual, but every day a prewar Buick or Chrysler brings $10,000. The Chinese want good-looking new cars, "face" and are willing to pay astounding prices.

You see almost as many sparkling new 1946 cars on Shanghai streets as you do in San Francisco.

Manufacturers have been shipping full export quotas abroad, where they command an uncontrolled retail price. South America and China are receiving increasing shipments. Washington controls the quotas.

Buying and selling cars has been a highly profitable business in China since the war ended.

Even Batter Old Things

In the months after the surrender any battered old auto that still had its wheels was priced at $1,000 to $2,000, even though gasoline was at a premium. The Japanese didn't leave many in good condition, and the best of the lot found their way into the hands of Chinese government officials or the very wealthy.

As rich Chinese and foreigners returned to the port metropolis the demand for automobiles became greater, cars double in value within two or three months, and have been on a steady rise since, despite the influx of new vehicles.

China now has banned importation of the most expensive cars, along with cosmetics and other luxury items, but foreign businessmen are finding it well worth while to take their own autos when they go to China.

They are worth so much that the U. S. Army and Navy have set up a joint detail to combat thefts not only of jeeps but also of staff cars. Organized gangs have been stealing American vehicles, switching parts and selling them artfully repainted, to wealthy Chinese in inland cities.

LYONSVILLE

Lyonville, June 25—The Rev. Oscar Jelsma of Mt. Marion will be in charge of services Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, at the Lyonville Reformed Church. Hudson Shore School Is Greeted

Puerto Rico, China, Chile Students Join in

West Park, N. Y.—Students from Puerto Rico, China and Chile extended their greetings to the Hudson Shore Labor School at West Park when they appeared on a radio program at 4 p. m. Sunday over Station WKLY, Kingston. The program highlighted the 25th anniversary of the founding of the school.

In addition to pointing to the need for schools for workers in their countries, similar to the Hudson valley, Mrs. Moure de Carmona, director of the Women's Bureau, Department of Labor, Puerto Rico, described their section of the country as a "paradise, beautiful and enchanting."

Miss Pau Tsu Yuen, manager of the Pasha Weaving Factory, headquarters of the Women's Advisory Council, Nanking, China, struck a note of international accord when she expressed "thanks for your sympathetic association in helping us during the war years."

"My main observation," said Miss Maria Mendez, Labor Inspector of Labor Provincial Inspection, Santiago, Chile, "has been that there is a new field for social group workers in the workers' education program of Chile. And on the basis of that, I plan to recommend that in our school of social work the course of study include preparation for work 'education,' patterned after the courses of study and methods developed at the Hudson Shore Labor School.

Julian Burroughs, son of the famous poet and naturalist, shared in the radio program. Miss Hilda Smith, national leader in workers' education, and long-time resident of West Park, took a leading part in the broadcast. Miss Margaret D. Wood, director of the school, interviewed the international students during the broadcast.

In addition to radio, other subjects taught by experts at the current institute were discussion methods in workers' education, visual aids and publicity methods.

The script for Sunday's half-hour radio drama was written by students attending a special workshop institute at the school in which the major aspects of broadcasting were being taught. Nathan M. Rudick, production manager of Station WNYC was the instructor in radio. He was in charge of the broadcast and filled the role of commentator.

Donald Wood of East Canaan was home for over Sunday.

Mrs. Nathan D. Williams and Mrs. Harry Colyer went to New York Tuesday to return Thursday. They will visit Mrs. Harold Ford, a former resident.

Irving R. Rathgeb joined Mrs. Rathgeb at Basin Harbor, Vt., over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Hasbrouck, Miss Joan and Leo Hasbrouck and Mrs. Mahel Hasbrouck left Tuesday for Scituate, Mass., where they visit Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Davis. The former will visit in Boston before returning.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien of Salisbury, Conn., has been named Dennis John.

D.; Miss Mary Eskildsen, Penn Yan; Harry Wheeler, Albany and Herkimer and to attend summer school in Albany; the Misses Ann and Jean McPhail, Hyde Park; Miss Ann McPhail will attend sessions at N. Y. U. before returning to help homemaking students in their summer projects. Miss Estelle Hightower goes to her home in Alabama; Miss Helen Sykes to Apoponaug, R. I.; Miss Ella Falkenburg to Syracuse.

Miss Nancy Rathgeb will have a position with the Poughkeepsie New Yorker on July 1, in the classified advertisement department.

Mrs. G. H. Mackey will be hostess to the U. D. Society Saturday afternoon.

John Walker, Sr., Raises Giant Head of Lettuce

When it comes to raising lettuce "Old" John Walker, who has been in the market gardening business for many years, can lead the field. Mr. Walker walked into the Freeman office this morning totting under his arm a head of "No. 456" lettuce which weighed 7½ pounds and had a spread of fully a foot and a half. The giant head was grown at his farm on the Plank road.

Incidentally Mr. Walker stopped in at the market garden farm of his son, Milton Walker, also on the Plank road, to display the lettuce head and explain that "it took the old timers" to really raise lettuce. There has been a contest between John Walker, Sr., his son, Milton and "Young" John Walker. Asked what Milton said about the big head of lettuce, the father said, "well, he just had an alibi; said it was a freak and could not be No. 456, but it is."

"Why the best my son could do in the lettuce field was a four pound head, mine weighs 7½," concluded John Walker as he pointed proudly at the giant head.

Hughson's second straight shutout was the big news in the American where Boston stretched its lead to 7½ games by blanking Detroit, 1-0, while New York beat to Cleveland's Bobby Feller, 8-3.

Hughson had a tough scrap with Detroit's Freddy Hutchinson, each pitcher allowing only two hits. Hutchinson walked four in a row after two were out in the eighth.

The Yankees fell before Feller for the fourth time with Rapid Robert fanning 13 to boost his season strikeout total to 165 in 154 innings. Bill Dickey's starting experiment, Lefty Tommy Byrnes, failed when Cleveland scored six times in the first inning.

Dietrich Breaks Finger

Bill Dietrich suffered a broken finger when hit by a line drive off Cecil Travis' bat as Chicago downed Washington, 6-4, and Sam Zoldak outpitched three Athletic hurlers to give the St. Louis Browns a 7-2 night verdict over Philadelphia. the stands tonight to watch this Madison club.

Maier Will Appear

Maier, who signed with Madison only a short time ago, played in a 132 games for the championship Detroit Tigers in 1945 and batted at a clip of .263. He visited the plate 486 times, scored 53 runs, collected 128 hits. He also banged out 25 doubles, seven triples and one round-tripper for a total base collection of 170.

Maier performed at third base for the Tigers last year and ended the season with a .936 fielding percentage in 124 games at the "hot corner." He completed 142 putouts, had 226 assists and came up with 25 errors. He also participated in 19 double plays for the Tigers. Maier saw action only once in the World Series last fall when he went up to pinchhit for Paul Richards in the sixth game at Chicago. Maier promptly belted out a single and wound up the fall classic with a 1.000 batting average in the basement.

The rest of the Madison lineup is packed full of power with a number of Minor and Major League players set to show before local fandom tonight. The Madison outfit of Woody McDonald, Johnny Maruska and either Steve Plesnik or Eddie Groh packs a solid wallop. The infield set up is reported to be one of the finest in New Jersey semi-pro circles. A former Boston Red Sox charge, Jim McClosky, will be at first; Joe Romano, ex-Florida State Leaguer at second; Bobby Maier at third, and either Les Smith or Winslow at short. Smith formerly played with Elmira of the Eastern League.

Recreation sluggers also will have plenty to watch when the Madison pitching staff goes into action. Johnnie Piccirillo, who hurled for the Jersey City Giants of the International League is one of the key members while the names of Jim Nally, Lefty Fuchs, Mike Rossco, Don Murphy and Johnny Belicki round out an impressive staff.

Ostrom With Recs

Kingston baseball fans welcomed the news last night that Billy "The Kid" Ostrom, a former member of the Recreations, would be with the local club tonight at the stadium. Billy, after an extended layoff, will be in uniform tonight and is expected to see some action. The Recs signed Ostrom in an effort to add more offensive power to the club. At though nothing is definite at this writing in regards to Ostrom, it is possible that he will replace either Ted Sawicki or Frank Bambara. Bambara, a great leadoff man, has been in a slump of late and may get a brief rest. Sawicki hasn't been hitting for the Recs in so many chances so far.

George Nicholas, who tamed the Black Yankees last Wednesday on four hits, will start for the Recreations tonight and will be out after his third mound win of the year. Lou Motzer will do the loser.

Pirates Blank Giants

Pittsburgh staggered out of the basement behind Nick Strinovich, who scored his first win of the year, a four-hit 3-0 whitewash of the New York Giants, who now bring up the rear in the National. Chicago's Cubs stopped Boston's five-game win streak, 7-3, to the dismay of 34,331 fans. Claude Pascau went the route to decision Em Roser.

Tex Hughson's second straight shutout was the big news in the American where Boston stretched its lead to 7½ games by blanking Detroit, 1-0, while New York beat to Cleveland's Bobby Feller, 8-3.

Wiltwyck Golfers to Compete In E.N.G.A. Weekly Tourney

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Ben Chapman, the "fall guy" who took the thankless job of managing the Phillies a year ago, is a solid bet to be named manager of the year in the National League—even if his team winds up in the basement.

Winning 18 of their last 24 games and moving from eighth place to sixth, only one game out of the first division, rates as a minor miracle for the club that holds the all-time record for finishing last.

More experienced hands than Chapman have quit after brief managerial reigns at Philadelphia. Since 1938 Jimmy Wilson, Hans Lobert, Doc Prothro, Buck Harris and Freddy Fitzsimmons have found the Phils the "graveyard of managers." Not quite a year ago, on June 29, Fitz walked out and Chapman, acquired from Brooklyn as a pitcher-pinch-hitter a short time before Fitz' resignation, was a surprise choice for the job. The Phils had made good by driving home three runs with two hits.

Eddie Byrnes sent Jimmy Beasley out for another starting shot but the sore-armed righthander didn't last through the second inning. Chapman had to use Oscar James and Charley Schanz to insure the verdict.

The Cardinals had a chance to pick up a game, for Brooklyn had been battered by Cincinnati, 15-3, earlier in the day. John Heitsch started on the road with a 10-hitter, while Ray Mueller smashed two homers and Ed Lukon collected five blows off an assortment of Brooklyn throwers. Starter Les Webber was the loser.

Salutatory

In the welcoming address of the evening, Wilma C. Bulivant, salutatorian, spoke of some of the problems of the world which must be solved by her classmates and the thousands of others receiving diplomas this June. "No soldier in danger of his life stopped to wonder if the man at his side was a Catholic, Protestant or Jew. It didn't matter then, why should it now?" she reasoned as she explained the need for cooperation.

Her speech follows:

Mr. Dunn, Members of The Board of Education, Members of the Faculty, Classmates and Friends:

On twenty-five long days and most destructive wars in the history of the world just completed, we are assembled together to witness perhaps the most important moments of our lives—our graduation from high school.

On reviewing the years spent in getting an education, we find that they have been years of responsibility as well as those of pleasure. As they passed under the competent instruction of our teachers and the guidance of various civic leaders, we learned to live and work with others, to take an active part in winning the war, and to develop our social interests. Tonight, at the termination of our high school career, we the graduates, because of the untiring efforts of our teachers, parents and friends, stand ready to more confidently face the future. On behalf of the class of 1946, I am more than proud and happy to welcome you to our commencement exercises.

While expressing our gratitude to those who have made it possible for us to get an education, no one should receive more thanks than our parents themselves. If it were not for their interest in us and their guidance many times we should have faltered and perhaps failed. At this time, on an occasion long looked forward to and dreamed of, we wish to express our sincere thanks to our families who have helped to make our future more secure.

Now that our high school courses have been completed, formal schooling for many of us is perhaps ended. Some of us will take our places in the world today, but others of us aspire to continue our education in colleges and schools of higher learning throughout the country. However, regardless of where we go and what we do, we owe it to ourselves and to those who have shed their blood on battlefields all over the world, to earnestly strive to make the future world a better one in which to live. To do this will not be easy. With the advent of the atomic bomb, world chaos, famine and the difficulties encountered in readjusting war torn countries of Europe to the ways of peace, this task has become one which will require every ounce of our skill and all of our courage and determination. With total destruction, the only result of failure, we who graduate here tonight, and those who do likewise in thousands of other schools, must not falter in our determination to achieve this goal.

Improve Own Country

We, as citizens of this country and prospective voters, can find no better place to start improving this world than within our own country itself. Despite the many and pressing world problems, now facing us we must first rise to the occasion of solving our own internal difficulties. At present, our country is in the throes of a terrific conflict between capital and labor, resulting in strikes, unemployment and the slowing down of our foreign relief program.

Also typical of the serious problems the United States faces at present, is providing homes for her returned servicemen and their families. Although peace has come, the housing situation is not improving. The people who have been living in makeshift dwellings are now demanding something better and deserve to get it. Moreover, poor housing is largely responsible for the extent of crime, disease, fire and other unfavorable conditions which should not exist.

Therefore, if America is to remain the vital link in the chain of peace that she is now, we must first attempt to solve our own internal difficulties, before tackling world problems.

A peaceful world, as yet, has been a goal that has not been realized. It is not one which can be realized through mere talk and theory, but only by well informed, active and intelligent citizens. If the United Nations is to continue to function successfully as it is now endeavoring to do, men must learn to co-operate and soon return with a verdict of "not guilty". Yes, Mr. Hamilton had won his case and with it he had won the first case of the American free press, which was destined to grow in power through the years. No doubt, Mr. Hamilton would be proud of the American press, which has served its people so well from the time of the Revolutionary War down through World War 2.

American Journalism

In the course of its history, American journalism has fathered many a great person. William Allen White, editor of the Emporia Gazette, popularized small-town journalism; Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the New York World, established a fund for the recognition of outstanding journalistic work; Joseph Patterson, head of the New York Daily News, created the present day tabloids. These men are among the journalists who were leaders in their field. Each in his own way helped increase the power of the press.

The war record of the American journalists during this past world conflict, is a magnificent one. In guiding us through our high school years and who has been the primary cause of trouble and disturbance throughout history, the "eyes" of learning is the only cure!

In the future world, education is destined to play an even greater role in shaping the policies and attitudes of people and nations than it is even now doing. Before it lies the task of implanting the principles of peace and brotherhood in the minds of children well trained in the art of killing and hating. If the youth of foreign countries is not brought under the influence of schools and churches in the post war world, the independence of nations and freedom of peoples will be much at stake as they were when Hitler invaded Poland.

The only way to prevent this from ever happening again is through tolerance and understanding, intelligence and thoughtfulness. It is up to education to bring about that deeper international understanding—so vital to world peace!

Maria Nekos, valedictorian, chose newspapers as the theme of her address. Tracing their importance from their beginning in Holland in 1620, she spoke of some of the great newspaper men and the valuable service in reporting past records as a measuring stick.

GREETING:

Buffalo, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—Joseph Hoare probably knows what a sphygmometer is today, but he said he didn't know what it was when he bought it yesterday at a police auction of unclaimed property.

Hoare, a bartender, outbid all others with 75 cents to obtain it.

He said he didn't know why he bid on the sphygmometer, a device for checking the pulse beat.

Feelings Hurt:

Chicago, June 26 (AP)—A new law in damage suits was before

Judge Charles S. Dougherty today.

Attorney George E. Sankstone, trustee for the Chicago Rapid Transit Company for six cents in damages.

Sankstone charged that the elevated fares were recently increased from 10 cents to 12 cents without due process of law and that he was forced to pay the higher fare on three occasions.

Red-Faced Bluecoats:

Milwaukee, June 26 (AP)—Two sheriff's squads rushed to investigate a report that a suspicious automobile was parked in a driveway near the county line.

Firemen to Meet Here July 26, 27

16 Fire Companies Have Accepted to Date

The 11th annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association will be held in Kingston on Friday and Saturday, July 26 and 27. The convention will close with the annual parade on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. This will be the first parade held by the association in several years, as the event was omitted during the war years.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, grand marshal of the parade, said today that so far he had received 16 replies from the questionnaires he had sent every one of the 55 fire departments who are members of the association, signifying their intention to take part in the parade.

Of the ten volunteer fire companies in the city, but two have so far notified the fire chief that they will participate in the parade. The two are Union Hose and Cordis Hose.

The fire chief is anxious to ascertain as quickly as possible how many fire companies will parade here in July, so that plans for the parade and the formation may be completed.

Sentenced for Posing as Nurse

Sought to Impress Friend
by Wearing Uniform

New York, June 26 (Special)—Isabella E. Pascoe, 27, former Canadien, who has been living at Matinecon Cabins at Milton while misrepresenting herself as a trained nurse and working in Hudson valley hospitals, received a sentence of two months from Judge Francis G. Coffey in Federal Court here today.

She pleaded guilty earlier this month to an information charging her with illegally wearing the uniform of a captain in the U. S. Army Nurse Corps. With the uniform and with a registered nurse's card, which she found and used after inserting her own name on it, she had no difficulty in getting jobs in hospitals.

Only when her nervousness and lack of technique while administering an anaesthetic to a boy patient in a Newburgh hospital was noted by doctors there, was she investigated more thoroughly.

She admitted to the F.B.I. when arrested that she had sought by wearing the uniform to impress a boy friend and found at the same time that it enabled her to get good jobs.

San Francisco, June 26 (AP)—Sally, 19, told her audience today that, with police waiting to arrest her for the third time in 21 hours, she had quite a bit to bare.
